

Flying to Canada (and Alaska)

Flying to Canada can be a rewarding experience, either for a short trip to Victoria or Vancouver, or a longer trip to more remote parts of the country, or for an ultimate destination in Alaska on the "other side" of Canada. This presentation covers procedures required by US Customs and Border Protection and Canadian Customs. It also provides an overview of flight rule differences in Canada, and of resources (charts, facility information, Flight Services, etc.) for pilots.

Directions: Northwest Side of Renton Airfield
